Georgia is a very brave, tenacious, strong willed little girl, or she never would have made it to the shelter. She was rescued from the Baldwin Park Shelter a day after her six babies were born. It appears that she was somehow dragged – either by a car or otherwise – during her pregnancy, and her tail was broken and needed to be amputated. Through it all, Georgia has been a survivor, a wonderful mom and loving girl. It appears that Georgia has been a mommy before, but she will never be a mommy again!
