Breed: Lhasa X

Age: 5-6 yrs

Sex: Female

Weight: 12 lbs

MEET BAILEY! This precious cream colored with silver tips, 12 lb, 5-6 yr old Lhasa X is too sweet for words. She was at the Harbor Shelter and sat there over the weekend with no interest ☹

We saw her, perfectly healthy and no issues, and said “let’s blow this pop stand” and we went to take her home! In a freak accident at her foster home, Bailey injured her eye and it had to be removed. While she is still getting used to it, she is doing great and still is a very loving and affectionate dog. She loves to look out windows and if she isn’t doing that, she is following you around or cuddling with you in bed! She runs after toys, but isn’t sure what to do with them...but she loves them! She will bark to alert, but she is not a yappy dog. She is quiet and pensive and when she really wants to show you how appreciative she is, she will give you little gentle kisses.

One thing is, she does NOT like being left behind and she will let you know it. Bailey would be great in a family with older kids (over 8 yrs old) or she could be in a household with or without kids and another dog for company. A home with a backyard and someone around would be ideal. Most important, having another dog or two and a human in the home most of the time is what she needs. A mature home with retirees would be wonderful! Overall, she is good with everyone...loves to go on walks and do all the things dogs love to do! Can she do them with you?
