THIS IS BLUE...short for Bluebelle ☐ who is a 5-6 yr old, 11 lb, b/w Shih Tzu. This girl was indeed blue when she was found by her rescue angel, who found her on the street dodging cars in terribly neglected condition. Matted to the bone; desperately needing a dental (who knows what she had been eating) infested with fleas causing dermatitis; a horribly infected eye, which could not be saved; in heat; underweight and totally shut down.

Cut to three months later and Blue is now much brighter! Her rescue angel has rehabilitated her and she is now ready for her forever home to spoil her to life! She is understandably cautious initially around people but really wants to belong.

Doesn't have an aggressive bone in her body! She will follow you everywhere, sit by your side (not on laps yet) and play with toys keeping herself happy. She loves to play fetch, too! She is good with cats and dogs alike, but would have to meet any dog who would become her sibling! She loves short walks and will let you know when she is done! Blue does not like being left alone, so a mature home looking for a constant companion would be a great match! She seems to be potty trained thru a doggie door (no guarantees at your house) and is happy going into her open crate for now to sleep. Blue needs a home that will be patient with her...gentle and loving. She deserves so much after all she is been thru. Can you give it to her?
