HERE'S DYLAN...and what a looker he is!! This precious black/tan (coat like velvet), 15 lb, 1 yr old pupster is a breed combo we're not exactly sure of! He looks like a Lhasa with a long body and shorter legs but his coloring is definitely something else...not big enough to be a schnauzer...so we guessed Yorkie. He can be whatever you want, but if you want to know for sure, get a DNA!! This youngster came from the SEAACA shelter, with absolutely NOTHING wrong with him. Not exactly sure how we were lucky enough to get him! He is a very playful pup, but not out of control hyper. He loves playing with his foster sibling, Elliot soooooo much that we are hoping they go home together! Dylan loves to give kisses, trying to figure out what toys are, learning how to do his business outside (thanks to his foster) and is good getting 3-4 walks a day. No guarantees though! He is not a barker, he gets along with everyone and just loves life. Dylan is great on walks, no leash aggression, just loves to stop and smell the roses! At bedtime, he wants to snuggle and cuddle with you, or we should say on you!! He is uber affectionate and such a lovebug. You can't go wrong with this bundle of joy...
