MEET HERO….and after all he has been thru, this 1 yr old, 11 lb, tan/black/gray, mix of some kind with the cutest Skye Terrier ears (but not body) is a gem. Hero was hit by a car, left on the side of the road to die and practically killed. His pelvis was totally crushed and vets were not sure he could be fixed While he was in the hospital, he got parvo! His nickname is 'Tuffy'… because he is tough and wanted to LIVE!! And he lives and breathes and kisses and is a wonderful boy. He has a funny gait because a plate was put in his pelvis and not all the fractures could be repaired. Over time, calculus/scar tissue has stabilized it as best as possible. He poops and pp's perfectly, and that's what matters here!! Hero is a happy, gleeful dog. He is motivated by food and snuggles. He is fairly easy going for a puppy…but he is always either on the move or sleeping! He LOVES other dogs and really needs to have one in his new home. He's great in the car and on walks; doesn't pull! His foster has been working with his potty training and he is doing well! No guarantees at your house! Hero wants to please and with training he will be even more wonderful than he is now! Are you looking for an active puppy that can add lots of love to your life?
