

Hobbs

Breed: Wheaten terrier / Bichon ??

Age: 1-2 years

Sex: Male

Weight: 15 lbs

HERE'S HOBBS!! We're not quite sure what his breed is, but whatever he is, it's cute! He could be a Bichon/Wheaten with the shortest legs a Wheaten has ever had...he's 15 lbs, approximately 1-2 yrs old and golden tan. If you are looking for a medium small pup, who is the best of all worlds, Hobbs is your guy. He is active and happy, entertains himself playing fetch and catching his toy (but he would prefer playing with another canine!), gives lots of kisses and really wants to sleep in bed and cuddle with you!! He would be great on a hike, run with you on a bike...play with your kids (8+) and run around your yard playing fetch! He would not be a good fit for a senior household, an apartment (when he barks, it's loud!) or a home where he is left alone and doesn't get much attention. Hobbs is young, so he will need potty training (he is getting it). He doesn't have separation anxiety, but he gets very attached to his human and will follow you around everywhere and cry when you leave. But he does settle down eventually. So if you don't work from home or can't bring him with you, or you don't have another playful pup, Hobbs probably wouldn't be a good fit. This boy is wonderful and looking for a wonderful home...could that be with you? SoCal adoptions only.
