MEET JAGGER….who the vet described as a dog with a “wonderful personality.” He is a Lhasa/Tzu, about 15 lbs, tan with a black mask and about 5-6 yrs old. This poor baby was rescued from the street, hiding under a car. He was either in a dog fight or hit by a car, as he had contusions all over his legs which needed to be sewn up. That’s why we called him “Jagger.” Despite what he has been thru, he really is a sweetheart. He loves to go for walks and is great on the leash. Great in the car and really friendly with everyone! He loves to play – goes after toys but isn’t really sure what to do with them! He likely will need a refresher course on potty training, but he is well on his way. Kids over 12 yrs old would be okay…but we have learned that Jagger really doesn’t want to share his home with another dog. Jagger really wants to win your heart – do you have room in your home and on your lap for this lover boy?
