MEET OUR KHALEESI...she may not be the Queen of Dragons...but she is the queen of our hearts! VERY difficult taking pictures of a dog with a black face! This little wiggle butt came to us from the East Valley Shelter, very shy with a huge hernia. Now, all fixed and blossoming like the true Queen she is...Khaleesi just wants love, attention, to play with you and give you sweet, gentle kisses. Every day, she shows us more energy and more desire to play! She doesn't need another dog in the home but she does need you! A small, companion pup, so that she has somebody to hang out with, is what would help to make her feel more secure. She is a love bunny when she feels comfortable and she gets there more and more each day. We think that in her past she was probably in a more senior home where she wasn't walked a lot. She was a little "chunker" when she arrived, but she is quickly slimming down! She uses a pp pad if she isn't taken out...she doesn't love to walk but once she gets going she has a great time! For this reason, we think it would be easier for her to have a yard, but she definitely needs to be walked and exercised. We love our Khaleesi and we think you will too!!
