MEET KINGSTON….and truly, we're not sure what his breed is! He, too, has a soft and wavy coat, doesn't shed, he's about 5 yrs old and weighs 11 lbs! One thing…Kingston is NOT easy to photograph… definitely camera shy! He's a sturdy little guy who is very shy and a little slow to get to know you, but he wants to belong! He once he bonds…he's your guy! He came to us from SEAACA shelter, healthy but intact, so he got neutered and he is beginning to blossom. He longs for a lot of love and attention and made to believe he is safe. Kingston doesn't have an ounce of aggression in him…he needed some training on the leash because he liked to circle you on a walk! Now, he's doing great, so we know he is very smart and easily trainable. He is a sensitive little soul and likes to hide until he's ready to come out!! Kingston is getting the message to do his business outside and he is learning! He will also use a PP pad if he can't get out. He will bark for a minute when you leave, but settles down quickly. He definitely needs another dog in the home to keep him company as he doesn't like being left alone and nobody is home 24/7. He could be an only dog if you are around a lot to make him feel safe and secure. He is playful and happy and has the most adorable smile! Kingston would thrive in a family, with kids, another dog and lots and lots of love!! We don't know much about his past, but we do know that his future will be excellent! Can you commit to this special little guy? He would probably be good in any home except one where he would be alone
