MEET OGGIE...and looks can be deceiving. This spectacular 16 lb, pure white, 1.5-2 yr old Lhasa Apso Mix is a charmer! We were going to take a different dog from Moreno Valley, a Shih Tzu who had some medical issues, but he didn't get along with other dogs so they asked us to take Oggie. One bad haircut can change the look of the dog dramatically. Below is his before makeover picture:

We didn't realize that Oggie was still a puppy, with all the energy and activity a puppy has, until we got him home! He was a perfect gentleman taking pictures and listens really well. He gives kisses, rides well in the car, great eater and LOVES to play with other dogs (should have one of his own!). Oggie does have a bit of separation anxiety, so apartment or condo living would not suit him as he will bark when you leave...but he does quiet down! When he arrived, he marked EVERYTHING but hasn't continued that behavior since – but no guarantees at your house. He is great on a leash for the most part, walks very nicely and likes to meet and greet others with a great disposition. We'd love Oggie to go to a home where there are kids 5+ yrs (because so many of our dogs can't), another dog, an active family who will take him when they go places OK for dogs, play and train him to be the best pup he can be. We don't believe he would be appropriate for a mature home ☐ He's is one in a million... So don't take a chance...if you are interested, let us know.
