MEET PANNINI….. and she is just about as delicious as her name! Those sad, puppy dog eyes can’t wait to meet you! Pannini is, as best we can guess, a gold/white, 14 lb (underweight), 3 yr old Lhasa Poo. She came to us from the Rancho Cucamonga Shelter with the worst case of kennel cough we have ever had! Poor baby was also sadly matted to the bone, but once she got her makeover, she was lively, happy as a clam, taking her treats and meds like they were candy! One thing we learned when we moved her to her foster home – whose mom worked all day – Pannini can be an escape artist! She can open windows and dig her way out of a yard! Nothing would stop her, despite her dreadful cough! We think that Pannini gets very attached to her people and her doggie friends and likes to go out for adventures! She does need training and we believe that once she feels safe and secure, and knows she is home, she will stay put! So, the ideal home for Pannini would be one where her family is around – to hopefully include kids, another dog or two and a household who loves her to pieces! This little girl longs for love and attention and we long to find it for her! She is a happy, kissy girl who loves to run and play and will give you years of happiness as a wonderful companion. Is Pannini the dog for you??
