MEET WILLA...a very spunky, cream colored, 2-3 yr old Lhasa Apso, as best we can tell! She is full of love, kisses and energy! She was adopted by a family who didn't believe she was a really energetic dog, and they insisted on adopting her and then realized we were right – it was not the right fit. Willa loves to go on walks, play with toys, play with other dogs and just be a doll. She is cuddly and happy, and we know that she has a personality that will mesh well with almost any household...except one that would leave her alone. She will need some training, but any dog coming from rescue or any environment does to be the best dog they can be. She would not do well in an inactive home...she loves to go for walks and socialize. A home with a backyard and another dog would be what we are looking for! You could even go hiking and running with this young lady. Willa can be mouthy sometimes when she is playing so we don't recommend little kids. We will never ignore a good home though....but she also would not be great with a senior as she is just too busy! Are you ready to get busy with her? Please have another dog for her to play with!
